

FLUID GROUNDS

9 - 20 september 2019

The workshop unfolds within the context of the eponymous work, designed as an intensive Master Class. By examining and working on certain techniques of applying adhesive tape to the floor and walls, immerse participants in deep somatic work

Fluid Grounds, provides an opportunity for transdisciplinary choreographic exploration. It trains participants to map the presence of the people and elements that visit their practices. The adhesive drawings come alive, constitute a visible memory of the relational history, and allow for a choreographic, plastic and visual awareness of interrelational ties. What results is a task of spatialization and mobility across the space, in addition to deep consideration of the object in an evolving environment.

A voice work component supports the exploration of sensory and sonic relationships between bodies, and allows for research on the repercussions of actions in and around us.

Like an inverted anthropological study, this workshop creates a ritualized scene articulated through sculptural accumulation. Here, Benoît Lachambre draws on the process of fascination. The participant's imagination is invited to deepen and sharpen the senses through an awareness to gesture in a specific context: a living space.

Workshopen är ett samarbete mellan Dansalliansen, ccap, Wanås och Frederic Gies och sträcker sig över åtta dagar 9-11 och 16-20/9.
